

Uber

Meet Uber

Uber is changing the way people can request rides and get smoothly from point A to point B.

The Challenge

We required more variety compared to what we were currently receiving. I also had a longer-term goal in mind, to consolidate multiple vendors across a number of sites and use one catering company.

What we liked most about Order-In

- ✓ Saves me an hour a week
- ✓ Sustainable catering options
- ✓ Excellent cuisine variety

The Solution

---

I chose Order-In for a number of reasons:

- 1 The different catering styles and cuisines available across one platform
- 2 The budget management and account services offered. This part of my role often takes time and I was happy to hear Order-In can take charge of it
- 3 The environmental sustainability focus that Order-In have aligns perfectly with our company's goals
- 4 Our friendly and professional account manager can answer all our questions
- 5 We also receive excellent customer service

The Order-In Difference

Aside from easy budget management and excellent variety, we now have a very happy workforce on a daily basis. They are excited to see the menu a week in advance and talk about it with their colleagues. Some staff have even utilised Order-In services for their personal functions, outside of work!

Order-In have so many caterers and suppliers on their platform, catering to our specific requirements. They also have dedicated account managers that place orders in line with our budget allocations and head count.

The Benefits

Order-In have allowed me to get back a crucial hour of my week! I no longer need to hand pick daily catering requirements that fit into our budget. All of this is taken care of with Order-In.

“Customer service, both face-to-face and over the phone is exceptional. If there are any issues, the account management team are consistently efficient to respond.”
